From 16 November 2009, doctors will, by law, need to be registered with a licence to practise in order to practise medicine in the UK and exercise various legal privileges (such as writing prescriptions or signing death certificates).

The best way to check the GMC status of your doctors is by visiting the online Register at www.gmc-uk.org/register

For more information about licensing, please visit www.gmc-uk.org/licensing or email licensing@gmc-uk.org
