Warnings on the registrant's registration

Warnings are issued to indicate when a registrant's behaviour or performance is significantly below the standards expected, but when restricting a registrant's practice is not necessary. See more on warnings.

From 20 Aug 2026 to 20 Aug 2027

On 6 November 2021, during an NHS 111 telephone consultation, Dr Persaud failed to explain the potential severity of the patient's presentation, including any possible underlying pathology, so that they could make an informed decision on attending for a face-to-face clinical assessment. This conduct does not meet with the standards required of a doctor. It risks undermining public protection, specifically patient safety, and it must not be repeated. The required standards are set out in Good medical practice 2024 and associated guidance. In this case, paragraphs 9 and 28 of Good medical practice are particularly relevant: 9. You must provide safe and effective clinical care whether face to face, or through remote consultations via telephone, video link, or other online services. If you can't provide safe care through the mode of consultation you're using, you should offer an alternative if available, or signpost to other services. 28. The exchange of information between medical professionals and patients is central to good decision making. You must give patients the information they want or need in a way they can understand. Whilst this failing in itself is not so serious as to require any restriction on Dr Persaud's registration, it is necessary in response to issue this formal warning. This warning will be published on the medical register in line with our publication and disclosure policy, which can be found at www.gmc-uk.org/disclosurepolicy.
