

GMC Connect - User registration

We have two online systems that, where required, can be accessed via the same account, if you're not sure which one you need, guides to both are linked below.

- GMC Online – this is used by registrants to manage their registration & details with the GMC
- GMC Connect – this is used to securely share data & documents with contacts working with us.

To register as a new user Click this link

It's important you select the correct option so we can set up your account correctly. Please contact the GMC staff member who sent you the link to this page if you're not sure.

If you are a GMC Online user and it has been some time since you logged in to your account, please check that you can log in before adding GMC Connect.

Select the option you need from the three below

Before you register to use the system, please read the following statement to ensure you are aware of your responsibilities.

GMC Connect - use of information

GMC Connect provides the GMC and its key stakeholders with a portal to send and receive confidential information. The system must only be used for official purposes related to the work of the GMC.

It is the user's responsibility to treat all data shared with them as confidential and adequately protect all information – failure to do this may result in the service being withdrawn or specific conditions being placed on further use of the system. Misuse of confidential GMC information, or GMC Connect, may result in legal proceedings being brought against individual users and their organisations.

The GMC at all times retains ownership of its data and of any intellectual property rights associated with it. The user must not share the data outside their organisation or use it for any purpose other than as agreed.

Users should note that the GMC is subject to the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA), and as such may be required to provide information under the provisions of that Act.

Request Submitted

Thank you for requesting access to GMC Connect.

Before you can access the new user group or organisation, we need to approve your request. A GMC Connect administrator has been notified. When your request is approved you will receive a confirmation email. We anticipate approval will take no longer than five working days.

This part of the process is now complete, you will receive an email when your access is approved.
